

Experiment Design

There are two regular factors: color and word. The color factor consists of two levels: "red" and "green". The word factor also consists of the two levels: "red" and "green". There are zero derived factors: We counterbalanced the color factor with the word factor.